Dear [Teacher's/Professor's Name],

I am writing this letter to sincerely apologize for my actions during the [name of exam, e.g., Mathematics midterm exam] conducted on [exam date]. I deeply regret that I chose to cheat, which not only violates the rules of our institution but also your trust in me as a student.

I fully understand the seriousness of my mistake and the negative impact it has on the integrity of the academic environment. I recognize that my actions were unfair to my classmates and have tarnished my reputation as well as your expectations of honesty from your students.

There is no excuse for what I did, and I accept full responsibility for my behavior. This experience has taught me a valuable lesson about the importance of honesty, discipline, and integrity. I sincerely apologize for the disappointment and inconvenience I have caused you and the institution.

I promise to never repeat this mistake and to do my utmost to regain your trust by upholding the principles of academic integrity in the future. I am also willing to accept any consequences or disciplinary actions deemed appropriate for my actions.

Once again, I am truly sorry for my actions. I hope you will consider my sincere apology and allow me the opportunity to prove that I can learn and grow from this experience.

Thank you for taking the time to read my letter.

Sincerely,
