

Dear [Author's Name],

Thank you for submitting your manuscript entitled " [Manuscript Title]" to [Journal/Publisher Name]. We truly appreciate the time, effort, and passion you have invested in your work and your interest in sharing it with our readership.

After careful consideration and thorough review, we regret to inform you that we will not be able to accept your manuscript for publication at this time. This decision was not made lightly, as we recognize the value and potential in your research and the contribution it may make to the field.

Our reviewers provided constructive feedback, which we hope you will find helpful as you continue to develop your work. [Optionally: "For example, they suggested clarifying the methodology section and further discussing the implications of your findings."]

Please know that this decision does not reflect a lack of merit in your submission, but rather the highly competitive nature of our selection process and the need to prioritize work that most closely aligns with our current editorial goals.

We encourage you not to be discouraged. Your dedication to advancing knowledge is commendable, and we hope you will consider revising your manuscript in response to the feedback and submitting it to us or another publication in the future. We also welcome future submissions of your work to [Journal/Publisher Name].

Thank you again for considering us as a venue for your research. We wish you the very best in your ongoing scholarly endeavors.

Sincerely,

[Editor's Name]
