Hey Sarah,

How have you been? I hope everything's going great on your end! I just have to tell you about something so embarrassing and hilarious that happened to me last weekend-I figured you could use a good laugh (even if it's at my expense).

So, I was at the new coffee shop in town, you know, the one with the glass walls and super trendy vibes. I walked in, feeling all confident, and spotted the cutest little spot by the window. As I was heading over, I was trying to text you about meeting up later. Well, classic me, I didn't notice the huge glass panel in front of me and-bam!-I walked right into it. The worst part? Everyone in there saw it and a couple of people actually clapped. Can you imagine?

I was so mortified! Of course, I tried to play it cool like nothing happened, but I could feel my face turning tomato red. Even the barista came over to check if I was okay. I honestly wanted to disappear right then and there. Looking back, though, I can't stop laughing at myself. Trust me, next time, I'll keep my eyes on the road and not on my phone!

Anyway, I just had to share that with you. I'm sure you've had your share of silly moments too-can't wait to hear all about them. Let's catch up soon and share some laughs (preferably not at coffee shops with glass walls!).

Take care and write back soon!

Love,
Emily
