

Apology Letter with Request for Forgiveness for Breaking Trust

Dear [Recipient's Name],

I am writing this letter with a heavy heart, aware that I have deeply hurt you by betraying your trust. I want to sincerely apologize for my actions and acknowledge the pain and disappointment I have caused.

I know that trust is fundamental to any relationship, and I take full responsibility for breaking that trust. It was never my intention to hurt you or let you down, and I deeply regret my choices. I understand how my actions have affected you and our relationship, and I am truly sorry.

While I cannot erase what has happened, I want you to know that I am committed to making things right. I am reflecting on my behavior and taking steps to ensure that I will not repeat my mistakes. Your trust means everything to me, and I am willing to do whatever it takes to rebuild it.

I humbly ask for your forgiveness. I understand that forgiveness may take time, and I am ready to be patient and work hard to earn it. If you are willing, I would appreciate the opportunity to talk and listen to how you feel, so I can better understand and support you through this process.

Once again, I am truly sorry for my actions. Thank you for considering my apology.

Sincerely,
[Your Name]
