

Informal Letter Template: Sharing Board Exam Results with Grandparents

Sender's Address

[Your Address]
[City, State, Pincode]
[Date: DD Month YYYY]

Dear Grandma and Grandpa,

I hope this letter finds you both in good health and high spirits. I have been missing you a lot lately and cherished all the wonderful moments we shared during my last visit.

I am writing today with some exciting news! My board exam results were announced, and I wanted to share my happiness with you first. With a lot of hard work and your continuous blessings, I managed to score [Your Score/Percentage]. I am really thankful for all the prayers and advice you gave me, which helped me stay motivated during my studies.

The exams were tough this year, and I faced some challenges, especially in [Mention any subject or experience]. There were moments when I felt anxious, but remembering your encouraging words always lifted my spirits. When I saw the results, I was overjoyed and immediately thought of calling you!

Looking ahead, I am now planning to [Mention your future plans-could be junior college, a particular stream, or any goal]. I hope to make you even prouder in the coming years.

Thank you both for your love, prayers, and support. Please take care of yourselves, and I hope to visit you soon for a celebration together!

With lots of love,
[Your Name]