

Sample Recommendation Letter for Medical School Application

Date: June 12, 2024

To the Medical School Admissions Committee,

I am pleased to write this letter in enthusiastic support of John Doe's application for admission to your esteemed medical school. I have had the privilege of serving as John's professor and research advisor in the Department of Biology at University of Example for the past two years, during which time he has distinguished himself as an exceptional student, a compassionate individual, and a promising future physician.

Academically, John ranks in the top 5% of his class and consistently demonstrates an exemplary commitment to understanding complex concepts in biological and medical sciences. His curiosity and analytical thinking were evident in his outstanding performance on both coursework and independent research projects. John's research on the cellular mechanisms of autoimmune disorders resulted in a co-authored paper that was recently published in a peer-reviewed journal—a testament to his academic prowess and dedication.

Beyond his scholastic achievements, John has amassed significant clinical experience through volunteering at Example City Hospital, where he demonstrated remarkable empathy, professionalism, and teamwork. I have received numerous commendations from supervising physicians who noted his attentive listening, clear communication, and ability to put patients at ease, even in stressful situations.

John possesses the interpersonal skills, integrity, and resilience essential for success in medicine. He is deeply committed to service, as evidenced by his leadership in our campus health outreach programs, where he designed and led workshops on public health education for underserved communities.

In summary, I offer John Doe my highest recommendation for medical school. His intelligence, compassion, and dedication make him an ideal candidate who will excel in your program and, ultimately, contribute meaningfully to the field of medicine.

Please feel free to contact me at prof.smith@exampleuniversity.edu should you require any additional information.

Sincerely,
Dr. Jane Smith
Professor of Biology
University of Example