

Informal Letter to a Friend Wishing Speedy Recovery from Illness

Dear [Friend's Name],

I was really sorry to hear that you've been feeling under the weather lately. I hope you know that I'm thinking about you and sending lots of positive vibes your way for a quick and smooth recovery.

Take it easy and make sure to get all the rest you need. Don't worry about anything else right now-just focus on getting better. If the doctors have given you any advice, don't forget to follow it (even if it means more boring bed rest!).

If you need anything at all-a chat to cheer you up, someone to bring you your favorite snacks, or help with errands-please let me know. I'm always here for you.

Looking forward to seeing you back to your usual energetic self soon. Take care and get well soon!

With lots of love and best wishes,

[Your Name]
