

Informal Letter to a Friend about Getting a Pet Rabbit

Dear [Friend's Name],

I hope you're doing well! I'm so excited to tell you that I just got a new pet rabbit! His name is Marshmallow because he's all fluffy and white, just like a real marshmallow. He's honestly the cutest little thing I've ever seen.

Marshmallow loves to hop around the living room, and he's already found his favorite spot under the coffee table. I set up a cozy little home for him with lots of hay, a soft blanket, and even some fun chew toys. It's adorable watching him wiggle his nose and stretch out after a nap.

He's really playful but also super gentle. Yesterday, while I was reading on the couch, he jumped up next to me and just sat there quietly, sniffing my book. I think he likes being around people because he follows me everywhere!

Taking care of a rabbit is a lot of work, though! I have to make sure he has fresh veggies every day, clean out his cage, and brush him so his fur doesn't get tangled. But honestly, I love every bit of it. It feels good to have a little friend to look after.

I wish you could meet Marshmallow soon! I know you'd absolutely love him. Let's plan a meetup at my place, and you can see him in person!

Take care and write back soon!

Best,
[Your Name]
