Dear [Hiring Manager's Name],

I am writing to express my interest in the Registered Nurse position at [Hospital/Clinic Name], as advertised on [where you found the job posting]. With a strong background in nursing and a steadfast commitment to patient care, I am eager to rejoin the profession after a career break taken to [briefly state reason, e.g., raise my family, care for a family member, or further my education]. I am excited about the opportunity to contribute to your team and deliver compassionate, high-quality care to your patients.

During my [number] years away from clinical practice, I maintained my nursing license, pursued continuing education in [mention any recent courses, certifications, or relevant training], and stayed up to date with the latest advancements in healthcare. My dedication to the field remains as strong as ever, and I have continued to foster my knowledge and skills so I can offer the best to patients and colleagues.

Previously, I worked as a Registered Nurse at [Previous Employer], where I gained extensive experience in patient assessment, developing and implementing care plans, and working effectively within interdisciplinary teams. I am particularly skilled in [highlight relevant specialties, such as acute care, geriatrics, pediatric nursing, etc.], and known for my compassionate approach to caring for patients and their families.

I understand that re-entering the workforce after a career break may be viewed as a challenge, but I am confident that my unwavering motivation, renewed perspective, and commitment to ongoing professional development have equipped me with a unique set of strengths. I am adaptable, quick to learn, and eager to contribute positively to your organization.

Thank you for considering my application. I would appreciate the opportunity to further discuss how my experience and enthusiasm can benefit your team. I look forward to the possibility of an interview.

Sincerely,
[Your Name]
